

THE FLOOD.
Terrible Suffering in Spain Follows It.
The Business in the Flooded Districts Entirely Suspended.

THEY'LL DO IT, TOO.
New York Advertiser.—The voters of Ohio will not only have an opportunity to re-elect Governor McKinley this fall, but they may abolish gerrymandering, too. A proposed Constitutional amendment puts changes of District lines in the hands of a non-partisan Commission.

TWO POINTS.
Exchange.—Two points brought out so far by the hearing of the Ways and Means Committee on the Fortnightly Fair bill: Point One—The foreign exporters pay the difference when a duty is Protective. Point Two—The American wage worker will pay the difference when a duty ceases to be Protective.

ARE THERE INDEED THREE?
Boston Journal.—Hon. Dorman B. Eaton says that he is surprised and pained that Secretary Carlisle should be permitted to go on cutting off official heads without any reference from the President. Mr. Eaton seems to be one of only about half a dozen American citizens who any longer really take Mr. Cleveland's reform professions seriously.

HOW SOON WE ARE FORGOTTEN!
New York Press.—Hamilton Fish was the greatest survivor of the birth of the Republican party in New York. But his face was not familiar to the majority of New Yorkers. Of late years he went out but little and was seldom seen on the streets. If he had appeared on Broadway at any time during the last ten or fifteen years probably not one person in 10,000 who passed him would have recognized him.

DIVINE INTERPOSITION NEEDED FOR KANSAS.
New York Advertiser.—It is proposed to have the General Assembly of Kansas pass a bill to amend the constitution of that State. It is a large scheme, others than ourselves are interested, and it follows close on the heels of Puffer's proposal to make money out of mud. For these reasons one may well hesitate to discuss universal insurance, without sleeping on Kansas. However, felt warranted in saying "God Save Kansas!"

THE HEARD OF THE DROUGHT.
New York Press.—Ex-State Senator Thos. Ward of Little Falls, N. Y., a manufacturer of men's underwear, that his factory is running only four days a week. "It is the fear of Free-trade more than free coinage," he said "that has resulted in this policy. What will be the result? Sooner or later we will have to come down to curtail running expenses." Talking about curtailment, he said, that the anti-snapper element is supreme in his county, and that the prospect is that there will be a fight between them and the Hillsbury-Sheehan men and methods this fall.

A FAITHFUL OFFICER.
Washington Post.—In abolishing the disbursing office of the Census Bureau, Secretary Smith has admitted as good, efficient and honest men as ever served in public office. J. C. Stoddard, former disbursing officer, whose office the Secretary has abolished, has made a record of which any man might justly be proud. It has been an office created in the dollar, and there has never been a question about a penny penny of that large amount by the accounting officers of the Treasury Department. A question has been raised in regard to the Secretary's power to abolish an office created and appropriated for by Congress, but we presume he acted upon what he considered sufficient advice in issuing the order.

ANOTHER ORDEAL LESSON.
New York Press.—A leading Wisconsin manufacturer was compelled to close down his works yesterday. His establishment was the principal one in Kenosha and, of course, its closing was a great blow to the town. The proprietor met a party of Democrats (including one of the editors of The Sentinel, the leading Democratic newspaper) before he was shut down. They were engaged in discussing the situation. "Is it true," they asked a manufacturer, "that you are going to shut down your works?" "Yes it is," he answered. "What! said the editor, 'are the poor men who will be thrown out of employment to do get their daily bread?'" "For the past ten years," said the manufacturer, "I have been feeding them and you have been teaching them how to vote. Now I propose to reverse the order. You can feed them and I will undertake to teach them how to vote. Probably 60 per cent. of my employees," he added "voted against their own interests in 1904. Perhaps they may learn something by 1908."

FRANK LEY of the Pittsburgh coal exchange says: "To move this coal by rail would require 1,200 engines, 40,000 cars, not including the coal itself. This would require a mile of track, and the cost of the coal would be $25,000 worth of barges alone, besides the coal that was lost."

Drift and Spikes Picked Up By "The Ledger's" Reporter.

The river is rising again, and another small run of coal is passing out city.

Manager Stewart of the Winifred Coal Company has wound up his work of recovering wrecked barges. There were carried away from the landing at Cincinnati in the last week of the season 13 barges. Of the 13 barges, 10 were sunk in ice, and the remaining three were unloaded in the ice. Of these 10 and the original 11 barges which were recovered. The rest were either broken up or carried out into the Mississippi. Of the 13 barges that were sunk but 5 were recovered.
